MORE OF THOSE OLD MASTERS.

A Titian Goes a-Begging for $17.50 and a Murillo Fetches Only $37.50.

The second lot of the late James R. Leaning's collection of paintings was sold at Cooke's auction rooms, No. 209 East One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, last night. The pictures, sixty-three in number, are nearly all attributed to the old masters. In the catalogue Auctioneer Cooke says, however, that he will not be responsible for the genuineness or authenticity of any of the pictures.

In the following list the quoted words are the pictures sold, the others the purchasers.

Correggio, "Holy Family," J. H. Halstead, $50; Titian, "Cupid Sleeping," J. A. Holzer, $17.50; David Teniers, "The Smoker," E. H. Nixon, $100; José Ribera, "The Cid," E. H. Nixon, $125; Ribera, "Old Portrait," A. W. Drake, $27.50; Wouverman, "The Cavaliers," Dr. Ruelling, $137.50; Murillo, "Holy Family," Mrs. Bauer, $37.50; Jules Vibert, "Carousal of Soldiers," J. H. Halstead, $40; David Teniers, "Old Portrait," A. W. Drake, $110; David Teniers, "Landscape and Figures," J. G. Flanner, $17.50.

A very fine picture, entitled "The Little Princess," by Weenix, was bought by C. Grant for $50. "The Roman Bath," by Rubens, went to J. H. Holzer for only $155. Mrs. Bauer bought "The Brazen Serpent," by Poussin, for $55.

An interior, showing a boy and dog, attributed to Murillo, which Dr. Leaming considered one of the finest bits in his collection and which the auctioneer said he would not have sold for $2,500, was sold to William Coffin for $300.

The sale concludes to-night.

HERE IS YOUR CHANCE

Alleged Paintings by the Old Man
Go for a Song.

The sale of the late Col. James R. Lear collection of paintings began last night in the auction rooms of Justus Cooke, No. 1 East One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street, and was well attended.

"Of 206 canvases, most of which said to be by Dutch and Flemish artists, sixty-five were sold at 10c. The names attached to the pictures evidently a bit of humor by the auctioneer. "A Dutch Interior," attributed to Teniers, Jr., went to F. E. Hassard for "Portrait of Himself," by Sir Joseph Kneller, was bought by C. F. Hoffman for "Return of Columbus to Palos," by B. B. Bano, went to Charles Grant, $51 for "scape and Cattle," by Paul Potter, was chased by J. Henry for $16; Titian's "and the Dragon" was dirt cheap; Rockefeller bought it.

Claude Lorraine's "Landscape at Sea" was seized by R. Y. Williams for $300; "Landscape with a Boat" by Richard Wilson W. H. F. for $80; portrait of Edgar Allan Poe by E. T. Bonaville for $27; "St. John and the Lamb" by J. M. Reynolds, went to W. H. F. for $17; an English landscape, by J. P. McPherson, will adorn J. P. McPherson. It brought $52.

An exquisite little painting, by Weenix, of still life, was purchased by Bracher for $110. The most valuable sold was an interior with figures a tale, by Adrian Van Oostade. It was as Col. Leaming considered this picture $3,000. It was purchased by F. W. M. Grand-View-on-the-Hudson, for $300. The sale will continue this and to-morrow evenings.

JAMES R. LEAMING, M. D.

The late Dr. JAMES R. LEAMING was not only distinguished as one of the foremost physicians of this country but was almost as widely known as a devoted collector of works of art, for which he possessed an instinctive and sympathetic yearning. For many years he found relief from the strain of his extensive and exacting professional practice in the gratification of his aesthetical tastes; and, year by year, his collection grew in extent, importance and value. Every discovery of a gem, every addition to his collection, was to him a source of sincere delight. And the contemplation of his pictures, the study of their beauties, and the investigation into their origin and the romances associated with the histories of the artists, solaced such portion of his life as he did not devote to adding to his treasures.

His most distinct predilection was for the works of the older masters, irrespective of nationality or school. He, in fact, looked at the picture itself rather than at its nativity. But he also acquired a number of modern works, many of decided merit; and, until his death, surrounded by his prized and familiar artistic memorials, he kept them by him, with an affection that did not admit even of the thought of parting with a single one.

The collection now offered to the discriminating collector and the appreciative public, will, however, speak for itself in its own honor and in that of the cultured amateur who formed it.

ROBERT FULLERTON.

CONDITIONS OF SALE.

1. The highest bidder to be the buyer, and, in case of dispute between bidders, the lot in dispute to be immediately put up and re-sold.

2. Buyers to give their names and addresses, and pay down a cash deposit of 25 cents on the dollar (no deposit of less than $1.00 will be received), or the entire purchase money, if required, in default of which the lot or lots so bought to be immediately put up and re-sold.

3. The buyer to pay the balance of the purchase money in cash at the place of sale 48 hours after the sale ends, and the buyer to remove the goods at his own expense and risk within forty-eight hours after the sale. The auctioneer in no case holds himself responsible if the lots be lost, stolen, damaged or destroyed after the expiration of the 48 hours above mentioned; they will remain at the buyer's sole risk.

4. No sale of an article to be set aside on account of any fault or any error in description—the undersigned not being responsible for the correct description, genuineness or authenticity of, or of any fault or defect in any lot, and making no warranty whatever. All articles are on public view one or more days, and are SOLD JUST AS THEY ARE, without recourse.

5. Buyers to pay for all lots purchased in full before any one or more lots will be delivered.

6. No article will be taken off the bill of the buyer under any circumstance. The Record of the Sale, kept by the auctioneer's clerk—together with the catalogue kept by the auctioneer—in all cases to be taken by the buyer as absolute and final in all disputes as to prices, etc.

7. Lots purchased will not be transferred from the bill of the buyer to another person until such lots are paid for in full, or a deposit made on each bill of at least twenty-five per cent.

8. Should a buyer wish a lot sold over for his account, the lot must first be paid for in full. A regular charge of $12\frac{1}{2}$ per cent will be charged by the auctioneer on the gross amount of all sales, the loss or gain to be for the account of the buyer.

9. To prevent inaccuracy and inconvenience, no lot can on any account be removed during the hours of sale.

10. Upon failure to comply with the above conditions, the money deposited in part payment shall be forfeited; all lots uncleared within the time aforesaid shall be re-sold by public sale, without further notice, and the deficiency (if any) attending such re-sale, shall be made good by the defaulter at this sale, together with all charges attending the same. This condition is without prejudice to the right of the auctioneer to enforce the contract made at this sale, without such re-sale, if he thinks fit.

JUSTUS COOKE.

THIS BEING A LEGAL SALE, no Warrantee of any kind whatsoever is made.
The undersigned, as Auctioneer, will not be responsible for the authenticity, genuineness or correct description of any lot. All are sold just as they are, without recourse. JUSTUS COOKE.

Measurements given are in inches, the first figures indicating the height of canvas or panel.

TENIERS (David, Jr.)

Dutch Interior.

13½x16½

David Teniers, the younger, was born at Antwerp in 1610.

He was taught painting by his father and by Adrian Brouwer. He was appointed Court Painter to the Archduke Leopold-William, Governor of the Spanish Netherlands. His works were eagerly sought after and their merits highly appreciated. He died at Brussels in 1649, and was buried in Perth. Teniers, though a Fleming by birth, belongs rather to the Dutch school in style. Some of his pictures are solidly executed, while others are so thinly painted that the ground is in many parts barely covered. He is said to have commenced and finished pictures of the latter class at a single sitting. Sir Joshua Reynolds says of him, "His handling has perhaps never been equaled. There is in his pictures that exact mixture of softness and sharpness which is difficult to execute."

16X21

4000

Phillip Wouverman, one of the most popular of the Dutch painters, was born at Haarlem in 1620; a pupil of Jan Wynants. The pictures of Wouverman are held in the highest estimation. They usually represent hunting and hawking parties, horse fairs, encampments, halts of travelers, and other subjects into which he could introduce horses, which he designed with a correctness and a spirit that has never been equaled. He died at Haarlem May 19, 1668.

REYNOLDS (Sir Joshua)

Portrait of Himself.

24x30

Sir Joshua Reynolds was born at Plympton, Devonshire, in 1723; died 1792. At the formation of the Royal Academy, 1768, he was appointed to the office of President. Shortly after received from the King the honor of knighthood. He is said to have painted more than 1,500 portraits of the beautiful women and eminent men of his time, besides a number of historical subjects.

VERNET (Joseph)

The Wreck.

9½x12½

Claude Joseph Vernet was born in France in 1714; died 1789. He painted a great variety of landscapes, marine views and other subjects, which gained him great reputation. They possess the beauty and freshness of nature, and are excellent in every respect, but mostly in the admirable management of light and shade and aerial perspective.

BREUGHEL (Peter)

Thetis in the Workshop of Vulcan, who is Forging the Shields of Achilles.

24x42

Peter Breughel, the elder, was born at Breughel, near Breda, in 1510, and died in 1570. He often assumed the habit of a peasant for the better observation of his favorite subjects.

Head of the Angel Gabriel, from The Annunciation, evidently cut from a large Altar Piece

LELY (Sir Peter)

Portrait of a Lady, time of Charles II.

32x38

Sir Peter Lely was born at Soest, in Westphalia, in 1617. In 1641 he visited England, when he succeeded Vanduyck, who had died the year before. He painted the portraits of Charles I., William Prince of Orange, Cromwell and Charles II. He died in 1680.

GIORDANO (Luca)

Return of Columbus to Palos.

24x38

Luca Giordano was born at Naples in 1632. Luca Giordano was invited to Spain by Charles II., where he arrived in 1692, and was appointed painter to the King. After the death of Charles II. he was employed by Philip V. He died at Naples in 1705.

14x16

Salvator Rosa was born at Renella, near Naples, in 1615. He wrought with considerable facility, and could paint a well-finished landscape, and insert all the figures, in one day. He was also an excellent portrait painter. During his lifetime his works were much sought after by princes and nobles, and they are now to be found in the choicest collections of Italy and of Europe. He died at Rome in 1673.

8x12

Godfrey Schalcken was born at Dort in 1643. Was a pupil of Gerard Douw. The chief merits of his pictures consisted in the neatness and spirit of his touch, the delicacy of his finishing. His coloring was warm and gilded and his tones sweet and harmonious. He died at the Hague in 1706.

17

POTTER (Paul)

Landscape and Cattle.

8x12

Paul Potter, the great painter of animals, was born at Enkhuysen in 1625. He was the pupil of his father. He carefully designed every object from nature. It was his constant practice in his walks in the fields to sketch every object that attracted his attention. His works were in such demand that he could scarcely execute all the commissions he received. He died in the 29th year of his age, 1654.

STEEN (Jan)

Old Dutch Interior.

13x16

Jan Steen was born at Leyden, 1626. He was called the "Jolly Landlord of Leyden," and was a pupil of Jan Van Goyen, whose daughter he married. He was especially fond of the ludicrous, and family feasts and merry-makings, the weddings of ill-assorted couples, tavern brawls, and other similar scenes were among his favorite subjects. He opened a tavern, whereon he gave himself up to reveling and intoxication. He died in 1689.

15x22

Nicholas Berghem, a celebrated Dutch painter, born at Haarlem, in 1624; died in 1683. His manner of painting was original, representing landscapes of delightful scenery, decorated with pleasing groups of figures and cattle. His compositions are admirably arranged, and he has given to every figure as much of ease and elegance as it would admit. The light floating of his clouds, the transparency of the water, and the admirable perspective are not surpassed by any of his countrymen. The management of light and shadow, and the distribution of his masses, are conducted with great skill.

LORAINÉ (Claude)

Landscape and River.

21½x27½

Claude Lorainé was born in the small town of Champagne, in the diocese of Toul, Lorainé, in the year 1600. His first lesson in art he obtained from his brother, who was an engraver on wood. From this beginning he became one of the great masters of the world. He drew the most beautiful groups of trees so accurately that the different species could at once be distinguished. Every beautiful appearance in the sky, every curious tinge of light on all kinds of objects he marked in his sketches of similar colors. His pictures are enriched with palaces, temples and other noble edifices, and the ruins of ancient mighty structures are so appropriately introduced and composed of so much skill and taste that it is easy to imagine that they had once existence at some glorious era of the Greek or Roman States. He died on the 21st of November, 1682. The above painting has been injured in the restoration.

BROUWER (Adrian)

Caught in the Act.

17x29

Adrian Brouwer was born at Haarlem in 1608. His parents were extremely poor, and his mother sold to the peasants bonnets and handkerchiefs, which the young Adrian painted with flowers and birds. He became a pupil of Franz Hals, a distinguished painter of Haarlem, and gained the friendship of Adrian Van Ostade, who was a fellow pupil; also that of Rubens, who took him into his own house. The subjects of Brouwer were of the lowest order, representing the frolics of his pot companions, but his expression is so lively and characteristic, his coloring so brilliant, and the passions and movements of his figures so admirably expressed that his works have elicited the applause of the world. He fell a victim to his vicious habits in 1640, at the age of 32.

He commenced his career as a portrait painter, but in 1749, when he went to Italy, by the advice of Joseph Vernet, he turned his attention to landscape painting. He was one of the original thirty-six members of the Royal Academy. The style of Wilson is altogether original, following Nature as his guide. He adopted a varied and interesting manner, distinguished for his boldness and fidelity to Nature, yet entirely classical. He died 1782

Thomas Gainsborough was born at Sudbury, in Suffolk, England, in 1727. At the age of 14 years he became the pupil of Gravelot, then of Sir Francis Heyman, like Gainsborough himself one of the original members of the Royal Academy. His reputation was such that he was considered at one time the rival of Sir Joshua Reynolds in portraits, and of Richard Wilson in landscape painting. He exhibited altogether ninety-six works at the Academy. He died in London, August 2, 1788.

WEENIX (Jan Baptist)

Still Life.

6x9

Jan Baptist Weenix was born at Amsterdam in 1621. His paintings, of a cabinet size, are exquisitely finished, as this beautiful example will show. His works are numerous, and deservedly held in the highest estimation, and they are to be only found in the choicest collections. He died in 1660.

VAN OSTADE (Adrian)

Interior with Figures and Cattle.

34x38

Adrian Van Ostade, a pre-eminent Dutch painter, born at Lubeck in 1610, and studied under Francis Hals, whose works were then in high repute. He was a fellow student of Adrian Brouwer. He had great talents and a lively genius, and adopted a style peculiar to himself, in which he equaled the best masters of his own country. His subjects are always taken from low life, and usually represent interiors of kitchens, ale-houses, with Dutch peasants smoking, dancing and regaling themselves, drunken frolics or quarrels. His coloring is rich and clear and glowing, and though his pictures have the most polished finishing, his touch is free and spirited, and wonderfully neat, and there is such a harmony in the tone of coloring as captivates the beholder. The above painting, pronounced by good judges of art a genuine Van Ostade, was formerly the property of Thomas Walsh, the well known author and former Minister to France. When his collection of paintings was sold the New York Journal of Commerce declared that 'most every one of the paintings was a genuine master. Adrian Van Ostade died in 1685.

MURILLO (Bartolome Esteban)

Holy Family.

36x42

Murillo was born at Pilas, a small town about five leagues from Seville, on the 1st of January, 1613. His first great work was a fresco in the convent of San Francisco, consisting of sixteen compartments, in one of which is his great picture of St. Thomas, of Villanuevo, distributing alms to the poor. He resided most of his time at Seville, where he executed many works, not only for the churches but for private collections. Few painters have a juster claim to an originality of style than Murillo, and his works show an incontestible proof of the perfection to which the Spanish school attained and of its artist's real character. The National Gallery at London paid four thousand pounds for a picture of the Holy Family. He died in 1685.

RUBENS (Peter Paul)

The Roman Bath.

22x33

Peter Paul Rubens, the pre-eminent painter and scholar, was born at Cologne on the feast day of St. Peter and St. Paul, 1577. His father was one of the chief magistrates of the city of Antwerp. Rubens was undoubtedly one of the most original painters that ever lived, and his subjects were unlimited. He painted history, portraits, landscapes, animals, fruit and flowers. The pictures of Rubens have this effect on the spectator, that he feels himself in nowise disposed to pick out the defects. Many of the great works of Rubens have suffered greatly from the effects of time, like those of other great masters, but more from improper cleaning and unskilful restoration, in my humble opinion. There are in the various collections of old masters in New York to-day more than one million dollars' worth of old pictures that have been ruined by the so-called picture restorers, especially in retouching injured parts, by which the original harmony of coloring has been destroyed. Rubens died in 1640.

POUSSIN (Nicholas)

The Brazen Serpent.

39x50

Nicholas Poussin, called the younger, was born at Andely, in Normandy, in 1594; a landscape and historical painter of great fame; he was attentive to vary his style and the tone of his color, distinguishing them by a finer and more delicate touch, a tint more cheerful or austere, a site more cultivated or wild, according to the character of his subject and the impression he designed to make; so that we are not less impressed with the beauty and grandeur of his scenery than with the varied appropriate and dignified characteristics which distinguished his works. He died at Rome, of a palsey, in 1665.
